When click on one bubble on screen, users can view the specific informations of that bubble. Inside the view page, there is a timeline for that bubble, which helps the user directly view the timer.

There are also a pause button, which simply pause this timer, a delete button, whick delete this bubble, and a change botton, which let the users to change the informations of this bubble.

Once the end time comes up, users' phones would set alarms to warn them.

3. MAIN SCREEN

Once users create their bubbles, they can see all the bubbles at the mail screen. The size of each bubbles is deside by the total time of that bubble. Just like the different names, colors of bubbles, this design also helps the users fto find out their timer easier.

The yellow PLUS sign at the bottom left conner is the "add bubble". Users can easily add a bubble by click on this sign.

The name tags at the bottom right corner are links that leads to each bubble.

2. CREATE BUBBLE

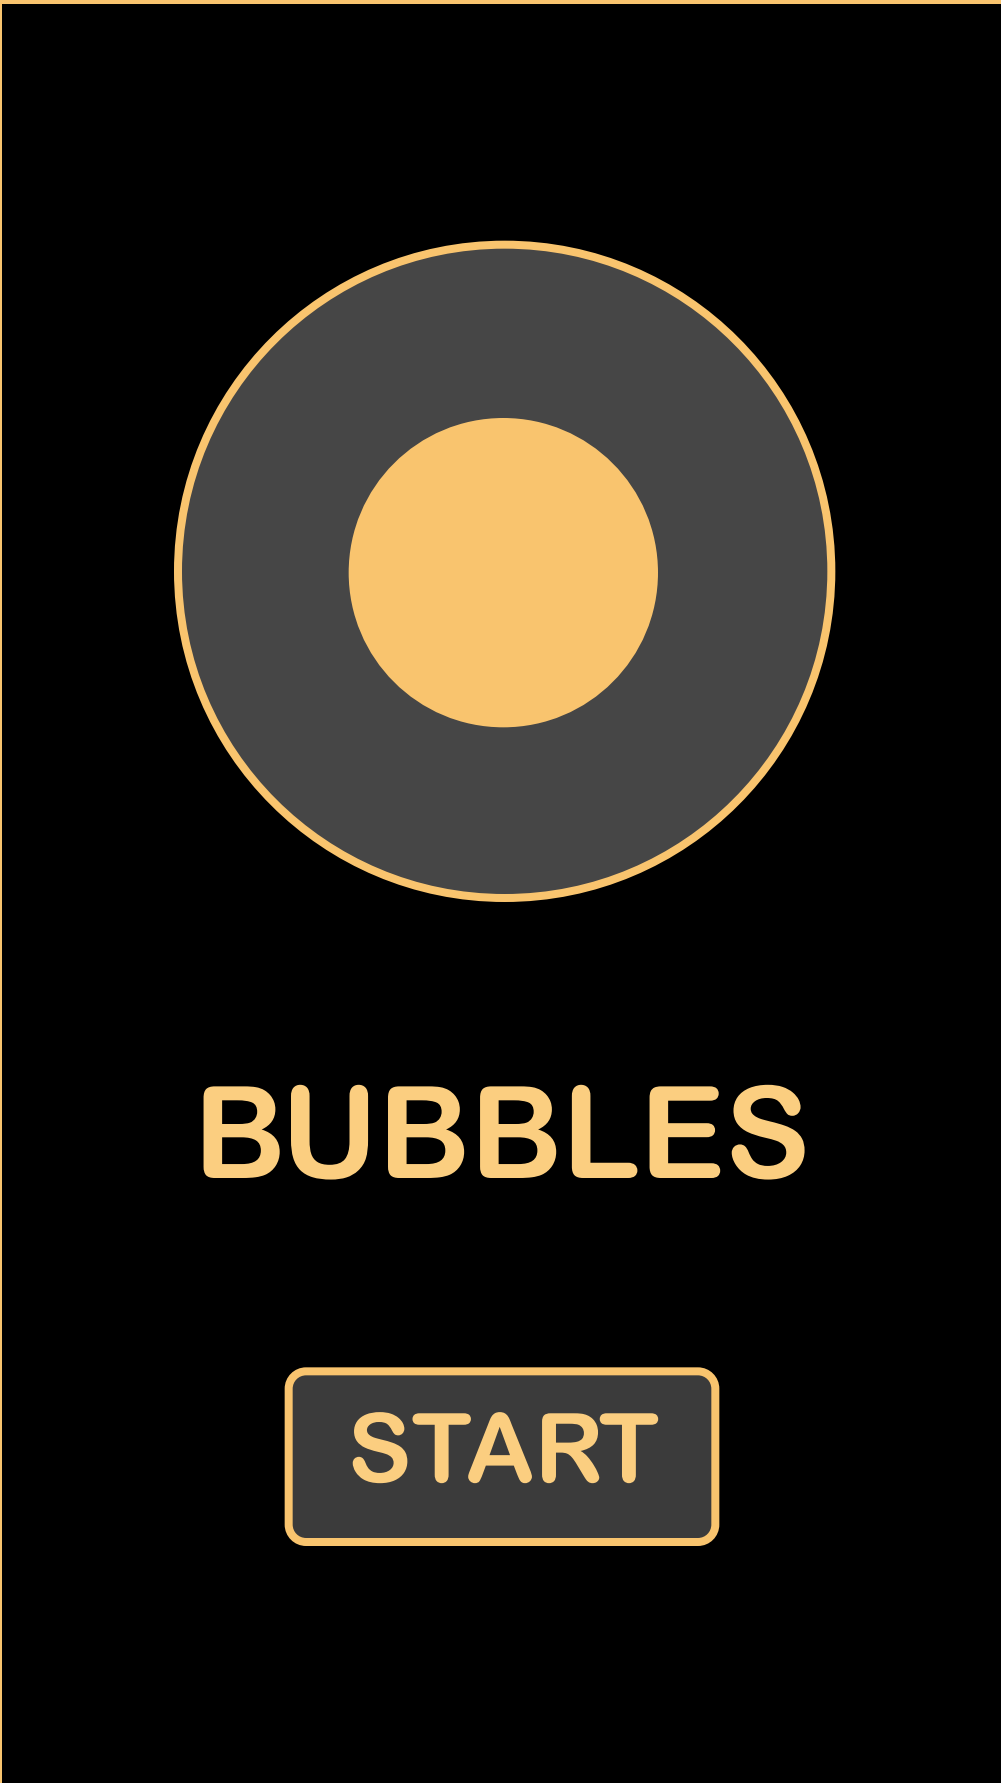

After the intro page, users could create their bubble(timer) by adding the name of the bubble, which is the event name of the timer, and the start time and end time. The reason why to have a start time is that the inner bubble is goint to expand from the middle of the outer bubble, so it's better for users to view the process of their timer.

Except for fill in the basic infos for each bubble, users can also personalize their bubble, by adding the color of inner bubble and insert photo from photo libraby or camera. I believes these elements can help users to find their bubble easier, and make this app to be more thoughtful.

My concept of this app is to make a cute but also useful timer. I introduce this app with the elements of of game and colors. That is why I desided to make the timer as a bubble.

One buble timer contains one semitransparent outside bubble and one colorful inside bubble. The inside bubble is going to expand as the time goes by. As timer end, both of the bubbles are going to explode and gone.

The intro page contains a cute bubble and a START button like game start button.
